Storying, the process of constructing stories in the mind, is one of the most fundamental ways of making meaning and thus pervades all aspects of learning. If teachers fill their student's brain with miscellaneous facts and data without any connection, the brain becomes like catchall in which items are tossed and helplessly lost. Stories help us to organize and remember information and tie content together. Through story telling Children find it easier to assimilate new ideas even older students look to anecdotes to help them understand new concepts and link them to their lives.

Interactive Over 100 elderly people and youngsters joined hands to raise voice for Indian ethos of humanism and peace. This interactive dialogue was organized by Peoples Convention Centre, Yuvsatta-an NGO, FOSWAC & NSS Unites Dev Samaj College of Education, Chandigarh. The programme started with a two minutes silence for all Indian and Pakistani soldiers and people killed during recent conflict at Kashmir border followed by Prayer 'BhlaChahnaMnushyaMatra Ka' by the Vlounteers. In the welcome address Baljinder Singh Bittoo, Chairman of FOSWAC said that India today is facing so many problems at all fronts be it illiteracy, poverty, hunger, malnourishment, unemployment, bad infrastructure, lack of housing, degrading environment and instead of talking on real issues political parties are raising bogey of religion and nationalism for no sane reason.

SK Setia, former bureaucrat added that this hate and war mongery had no place in Indian history, we are known world over for our values and spirit of 'VasudhevKutumbkam -living in harmony with man and nature alike'. And its high time that all peace living majority people should come forward and demand peace, harmony and development from political masters.

Taking part in the discussion Reeta Kohli, a senior lawyer said that during any conflict it's the Women and children who are often the most vulnerable and prone to being hit the hardest. And throughout history we see examples of terrible abuses against women and children. So nobody can understand better than women the value of peace and harmony in society and globally, especially in context of India-Pakistan relations.

Shalini a student of Dev Samaj College of Education was of the view that young people should consciously censor the media channel, social media and newspapers and they should responsibly use or forward any story after verifying that its correct and doesn't promote any ill-will, hate or anger against any particular group or set of people.

Pramod Sharma, Coordinator of Yuvsatta added that in this 150th anniversary year of Mahatma Gandhi and in the present atmosphere of hate and war mongery, we have to spread the spirit of living with love, hope and forgiveness for lasting peace and harmony not only in India and Pakistan, but whole of South-Asia.

Mr. AS Paul of Peoples Convention Centre was of the view that India should readily accept the offer of Imran Khan to hold bilateral talks for peace and harmony. As diplomatic parlays, on the other hand have always borne fruits for both sides. Efforts must be made to bring people closer to each other. The region will flourish. Brainstorming by sensible people from both sides will also eventually zero in on a viable solution to the Kashmir imbroglio.

In her concluding remarks Prof. Gurdev Kaur, former Principal of Government College of Derrabassi, quoting SahirLudhianvi said that in a war, there are nowinners. War leaves behind a legacy of plain losers. We don't gain a thing by launching wars, we just lose everything. Those who advocate for war are either totally naïve and ignorant about the repercussions of war between two nuclear armed countries or they ride on emotions fanned by people with vested interest in fuelling the armed industry further.

themselves for life off the streets, or if that isn't possible, at least make their life on the streets more humane.

The Practice
